

Belgacom hacking case: MEPs regret UK intelligence service absence at EP hearing

Committees Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs [03-10-2013 - 19:28]

Civil Liberties Committee MEPs expressed their regret on Thursday that the British Government Communications Headquarters (GCHQ) had declined their invitation to take part in a hearing on the alleged hacking of Belgian telecoms firm Belgacom's servers. Belgacom's top managers would not confirm or deny media reports that UK intelligence services were behind the attack.
