To:	Council
No. prev. doc.:	6195/17 MAR 36 CODEC 199
No. Cion doc.:	9964/16 MAR 161 CODEC 847
Subject:	Proposal for a Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council amending Council Directive 98/41/EC on the registration of persons sailing on board passenger ships operating to or from ports of the Member States of the Community and amending Directive 2010/65/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council on reporting formalities for ships arriving in and/or departing from ports of the Member States – General approach

CONTEXT AND CONTENT OF THE PROPOSAL

1. On 7 June 2016, the Commission transmitted the above-mentioned proposal to the European Parliament and to the Council.
2. The proposal forms part of a broader review of the EU passenger ship safety legislation, in line with a "fitness check" carried out by the Commission.<sup>1</sup>

3. The Commission proposes to amend Council Directive 98/41/EC<sup>2</sup> in order to update, clarify and simplify the existing requirements for counting and registration of passengers and crew on board passenger ships while enhancing the level of safety.
4. The main objective of Directive 98/41/EC is to facilitate search and rescue operations and to allow for immediate follow-up.
5. The main change compared to the current Directive is digitalisation, i.e. that instead of the data being kept by the ship company, it would be transmitted to the maritime National Single Windows established in accordance with Directive 2010/65/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>3</sup>.

WORK WITHIN THE COUNCIL

6. The Commission made an oral presentation of the review of the passenger ship safety legislation to the Transport Council on 7 June 2016.
7. After a first examination of the proposal by the Shipping Working Party during the autumn of 2016, a progress report was presented to the Transport Council on 1 December 2016.
8. The Shipping Working Party continued its examination of the proposal at several meetings during January and February 2017 and agreed on amendments to the Commission proposal. They include:
  - clarification of the definition of "designated authority";
  - further clarification that the Directive does not apply to inland waterway vessels nor to pleasure yachts and craft;

<sup>3</sup> Directive 2010/65/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20 October 2010 on reporting formalities for ships arriving in and/or departing from ports of the Member States and repealing Directive 2002/6/EC (OJ L 283, 29.10.2010, p. 1).

- increased flexibility for Member States to report the number of persons on board by "appropriate technical means", left to their own discretion, in the single window or by means of the Automatic Identification System;
  - furthermore, during a transitional period of ten years, Member States may continue the current system of communicating the number of persons on board and the personal data recorded to the shipping company's passenger registrar or to a shore-based company system; in this respect, the Presidency notes that it had initially proposed a seven year transitional period;
  - a possibility for Member States to exempt, under certain conditions and for an unlimited time, regular services of less than one hour from the obligation to report the number of persons on board in the single window; moreover, a specific geographical exemption has been introduced for Germany (the Island of Heligoland) and Denmark and Sweden (the Island of Bornholm) as regards the collection and reporting of personal data on voyages from and to those islands;
  - the use of implementing acts, instead of delegated acts, for Member States' decisions to grant exemptions;
  - a clarification of the maximum retention period for personal data (60 days);
  - the setting of a time-limit of seven years for the Commission's power to adopt delegated acts;
  - an extension of the transposition period for the Directive to 36 months (instead of 12) and a derogation from the obligation to transpose the Directive for Member States which neither have maritime ports nor ships flying their flag.
9. On 8 March 2017, the Permanent Representatives Committee agreed on the text without any further amendments.

10. In its deliberations, the Council preparatory bodies have taken into account the formal comments of the European Data Protection Supervisor<sup>4</sup>.
11. It should be noted that the proposal was not accompanied by an impact assessment. However, the Commission's REFIT report was presented and discussed in the Shipping Working Party in October 2015. Furthermore, the Commission proposal was accompanied by an implementation plan and an overview of the simplification proposals<sup>5</sup>.

WORK WITHIN THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT

12. The European Parliament Committee for Transport and Tourism (TRAN) appointed Ms Izaskun Bilbao Barandica (ALDE-Spain) as rapporteur on 1 August 2016. The draft report was issued on 3 February 2017.

COMMISSION POSITION

13. The Commission maintains at this stage of the procedure a general reservation on any changes to its proposal, pending the European Parliament position at first reading. In addition, the Commission reserves its position on three particular aspects of the proposal: 1) on the long transitional period of ten years, which it considers cannot be justified either from a safety or operational perspective, particularly in view of the technological progress over the last 20 years and the application of Directive 2010/65/EU on reporting formalities; 2) on the specific geographical exemption for voyages from and to Heligoland and Bornholm; and 3) on the possibility for Member States without maritime ports and without ships flying their flag to derogate from the obligation to transpose the Directive.

CONCLUSION

14. The Council is invited to examine the text, as set out in the Annex to this report, with a view to adopting a general approach.

- (1) Accurate and timely information on the numbers or identity of persons on board a ship is essential for the preparation and effectiveness of search and rescue operations. In the event of an accident at sea, full and complete cooperation between the competent national authorities of the state or states involved, the ship operator and their agents can contribute significantly to the effectiveness of operations by the competent authorities. Certain aspects of that cooperation are regulated by Council Directive 98/41/EC<sup>7</sup>.
- (2) The results of the Regulatory Fitness Programme (REFIT) fitness check<sup>8</sup> and experience gained in implementing Directive 98/41/EC have shown that information on persons on board is not always readily available to the competent authorities. Consequently, the current requirements of Directive 98/41/EC should be brought in line with the requirements to report data electronically, making them more efficient. Digitalisation will also allow to facilitate access to information concerning significant number of passengers in the event of an emergency or in the aftermath of an accident at sea.
- (3) Over the past 17 years, significant technological progress has been made in the means of communication and the storage of data on ship movements. A number of mandatory ship reporting systems have been set up along Europe's coastlines, in accordance with the relevant rules adopted by the International Maritime Organization (IMO). Union and national law ensure that ships comply with the reporting requirements in force under those systems.

- (4) The collection, transmission and sharing of ship-related data has been enabled, simplified and harmonised by the National Single Window referred to in Directive 2010/65/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>9</sup> and the Union Maritime Information and Exchange System (SafeSeaNet) referred to in Directive 2002/59/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>10</sup>. The information on the persons on board required by Directive 98/41/EC should therefore be reported in the National Single Window which allows the data to be readily available to the competent authority in the event of an emergency or accident. The number of persons on board should be reported in the National Single Window by appropriate technical means left to the discretion of Member States or, as an alternative, to the designated authority by means of the Automatic Identification System.
- (4a) For the facilitation of provision and exchange of information reported under this Directive and in order to reduce the administrative burdens, Member States should use the harmonised reporting formalities established by Directive 2010/65/EU. In case of an accident affecting more than one Member State, Member States should make this information available to other Member States via the SafeSeaNet system.
- (4b) To provide for a sufficient period for Member States to add new functionalities to the national single windows, it is appropriate to foresee a transitional period during which Member States have the possibility to maintain the current system for registering persons on board passenger ships.

<sup>9</sup> Directive 2010/65/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20 October 2010 on reporting formalities for ships arriving in and/or departing from ports of the Member States and repealing Directive 2002/6/EC (OJ L 283, 29.10.2010, p. 1).

<sup>10</sup> Directive 2002/59/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 June 2002 establishing a Community vessel traffic monitoring and information system and repealing Council Directive 93/75/EEC (OJ L 208, 5.8.2002, p. 10).

- (5) Member States should encourage operators, and in particular smaller operators, to use the National Single Window. However, in order to ensure compliance with the principle of proportionality, Member States should have the possibility to exempt, under specific conditions, smaller operators who do not yet use the National Single Window and who operate mainly on short domestic voyages of less than 60 minutes from the obligation to report the number in the National Single Window.
- (5a) Due to the specific geographical location and the nature of the transport connections between the mainland and the islands of Heligoland and Bornholm, Germany, Denmark and Sweden should have the possibility to exempt passenger ships operating on those routes from the obligation to report the list of persons on board under this Directive.
- (5b) Member States should be allowed to maintain existing possibilities to lower the 20 mile threshold for recording and reporting the list of persons on board. This could include voyages where passenger ships carrying a high number of passengers make successive calls between ports at a distance of less than 20 miles during the course of a single longer voyage. In such cases, Member States should be allowed to lower the 20 mile threshold so as to make it possible to record the information required by this Directive for passengers on board having embarked in the first or intermediate ports.
- (6) To reduce the anxiety of relatives in the case of an accident and to avoid unnecessary delays in the consular assistance and other services, the data communicated should include information on the nationality of persons on board. The list of required data entries for voyages beyond 20 miles should be simplified, clarified and aligned as far as possible with reporting requirements for the National Single Window.
- (7) Taking into account the availability of electronic means of data recording and the fact that personal data should in any event be collected before the ship's departure, the 30 minutes delay currently provided for by Directive 98/41/EC should be considered as a maximum.

- (8) To increase legal clarity and consistency with related Union legislation and Directive 2009/45/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>11</sup> in particular, a number of outdated, ambiguous and confusing references should be updated or deleted. The definition of 'passenger ship' should be aligned to other Union legislation, while maintaining the scope of this Directive. The definition of 'protected sea area' should be deleted and the concept should be aligned with Directive 2009/45/EC for the purposes of the exemptions under this Directive, while ensuring the proximity of search and rescue facilities. The definition of 'passenger registrar' should be amended to reflect the new duties that no longer include the keeping of the information. The definition of 'designated authority' should encompass competent authorities having direct or indirect access to the information required by this Directive. The corresponding requirements for company passenger registration systems should be deleted.
- (8a) This Directive should not apply to pleasure yachts or pleasure craft. In particular, this Directive should not apply to pleasure yachts or pleasure craft when they are bareboat chartered and not subsequently engaged in trade for the purposes of carrying passengers.
- (9) Member States should remain responsible for ensuring compliance with the data registration requirements under Directive 98/41/EC, namely as regards the accuracy and timely registration of the data. To ensure consistency of information, random checks could be carried out.

<sup>11</sup> Directive 2009/45/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 6 May 2009 on safety rules and standards for passenger ships (OJ L 163, 25.6.2009, p. 1).

- (10) In so far as measures entail the processing of personal data, that processing shall be carried out in accordance with Union law on the protection of personal data<sup>12</sup>. In particular and without prejudice to other legal obligations in compliance with data protection law, personal data collected in accordance with Directive 98/41/EC should not be processed or used for any other purpose and should not be retained longer than necessary for the purposes of Directive 98/41/EC. The relevant guidelines established to ensure compliance with the relevant EU legislation, in particular Directives 2002/59/EC and 2010/65/EU, should be reviewed in order to take this Directive into consideration.
- (11) In view of the principle of proportionality and given that it is in the passenger's best interest to provide genuine information the current means of personal data collection on a basis of self-declaration of passengers is sufficient for the purposes of Directive 98/41/EC. At the same time, electronic means of data registration and verification should ensure that unique information is registered for every person on board.
- (12) To increase transparency and to facilitate the notification by Member States of exemptions and requests for derogation, a database should be established and maintained for that purpose by the Commission. It should include the notified measures in their draft and adopted form.
- (13) In view of the changes brought about by the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, the powers conferred on the Commission to implement Directive 98/41/EC should be updated correspondingly. Implementing acts should be adopted in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>13</sup>.

<sup>12</sup> In particular Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC (General Data Protection Regulation) (OJ L 119, 4.5.2016, p. 1) and Regulation (EC) No 45/2001 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 18 December 2000 on the protection of individuals with regard to the processing of personal data by the Community institutions and bodies and on the free movement of such data (OJ L 8, 12.1.2001, p. 1).

<sup>13</sup> Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 February 2011 laying down the rules and general principles concerning mechanisms for control by Member States of the Commission's exercise of implementing powers (OJ L 55, 28.2.2011, p. 13).

- (14) In order to take account of developments at international level and to increase transparency, the power to adopt acts in accordance with Article 290 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union should be delegated to the Commission in respect of not applying, for the purposes of this Directive, amendments to the international instruments if necessary. It is of particular importance that the Commission carry out appropriate consultations during its preparatory work, including at expert level, and that those consultations be conducted in accordance with the principles laid down in the Interinstitutional Agreement on Better Law-Making of 13 April 2016. In particular, to ensure equal participation in the preparation of delegated acts, the European Parliament and the Council receive all documents at the same time as Member States' experts, and their experts systematically have access to meetings of Commission expert groups dealing with the preparation of delegated acts.
- (15) In view of the full monitoring cycle of European Maritime Safety Agency visits, the Commission should evaluate the implementation of Directive 98/41/EC no later than [seven years after the date referred to in the second subparagraph of Article 3(1)] and report to the European Parliament and the Council thereon. Member States should cooperate with the Commission to gather all information necessary for that evaluation.
- (16) To reflect the changes brought to Directive 98/41/EC, information on persons on board should be included in the list of reporting formalities referred to in Part A of the Annex of Directive 2010/65/EU.
- (16a) For a Member State which neither has maritime ports in its territory nor ships or craft flying its flag falling under the scope of this Directive, it would be a disproportionate and unnecessary obligation if that Member State had to transpose this Directive.
- (17) Directives 98/41/EC and 2010/65/EU should therefore be amended accordingly,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

For a transitional period of [10 years after the entry into force of this Directive], Member States may allow for that information to continue to be communicated to the company's passenger registrar or to the shore-based company system that performs the same function, instead of reporting it in the single window or to the designated authority by means of the Automatic Identification System.

Member States shall ensure that companies have a procedure for data registration in place which guarantees that information required by this Directive is reported in an accurate and timely manner.

(11) the following Article is inserted:

"Article 12a

1. The power to adopt delegated acts referred to in Article 12 is conferred on the Commission subject to the conditions laid down in this Article.
2. The power to adopt delegated acts referred to in Article 12 shall be conferred on the Commission for a period of seven years from [the date of entry into force]. The Commission shall draw up a report in respect of the delegation of power not later than nine months before the end of the seven-year period. The delegation of power shall be tacitly extended for periods of an identical duration, unless the European Parliament or the Council opposes such extension not later than three months before the end of each period.
3. The delegation of power referred to in Article 12 may be revoked at any time by the European Parliament or by the Council. A decision to revoke shall put an end to the delegation of the power specified in that decision. It shall take effect the day following the publication of the decision in the Official Journal of the European Union or at a later date specified therein. It shall not affect the validity of any delegated acts already in force.
4. Before adopting a delegated act, the Commission shall consult experts designated by each Member State in accordance with the principles laid down in the Interinstitutional Agreement on Better Law-Making of 13 April 2016.
5. As soon as it adopts a delegated act, the Commission shall notify it simultaneously to the European Parliament and to the Council.

6. A delegated act adopted pursuant to Article 12 shall enter into force only if no objection has been expressed either by the European Parliament or by the Council within a period of two months of notification of that act to the European Parliament and the Council or if, before the expiry of that period, the European Parliament and the Council have both informed the Commission that they will not object. That period shall be extended by two months at the initiative of the European Parliament or of the Council.
7. A delegated act, amending this Directive in order not to apply, for the purposes of this Directive, any amendment to the international instruments in accordance with Article 12, shall be adopted at least three months before the expiration of the period established internationally for the tacit acceptance of the amendment concerned or the envisaged date for the entry into force of said amendment. In the period preceding the entry into force of such delegated act, Member States shall refrain from any initiative intended to integrate the amendment in national legislation or to apply the amendment to the international instrument concerned.";

(12) Article 13 is amended as follows:

- (a) paragraph 2 is replaced by the following:

"2. Where reference is made to this paragraph, Article 5 of Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council* shall apply.

---

* Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 February 2011 laying down the rules and general principles concerning mechanisms for control by Member States of the Commission's exercise of implementing powers (OJ L 55, 28.2.2011, p. 13).";

- (b) paragraph 3 is deleted;

(13) the following Article is inserted:

"Article 14a

The Commission shall evaluate the implementation of this Directive and submit the results of the evaluation to the European Parliament and the Council no later than [seven years after the date referred to in the second subparagraph of Article 3(1)].".

Article 2

Amendments to the Annex to Directive 2010/65/EU

In Part A of the Annex to Directive 2010/65/EU, the following point (7) is added:

"7. Information on persons on board
