Amendment 1
Title

Proposal for a
COUNCIL DECISION
establishing a European Migration
Network

Proposal for a
COUNCIL DECISION
establishing a European Migration and Asylum Network

Justification

The European network's job is to collect and exchange information on immigration and asylum, and this should be reflected in its acronym (EMAN). This amendment seeks to replace 'European Migration Network' with 'European Migration and Asylum Network' and 'EMN' with 'EMAN' throughout the proposal (with the exception of recitals 1 to 5, which refer to the name used to date).

Amendment 2

Recital 6

(6) The EMN should avoid duplicating the work of existing Community instruments or structures whose purpose is to collect and exchange information in the areas of migration and asylum and should provide an added value in comparison with them, in particular through the broad scope of its tasks, a strong focus on analysis, links with the academic community and the public availability of its outputs.

(6) The EMAN should avoid duplicating the work of existing Community instruments or structures whose purpose is to collect and exchange information in the areas of migration and asylum and should provide an added value in comparison with them, in particular through its neutrality, the broad scope of its tasks, a strong focus on analysis, links with the academic community, non-governmental organisations (NGOs), international organisations, and central administrations, and the public availability of its outputs.
(if the amendment concerning abbreviation "EMAN" is adopted, it would apply throughout the whole text, except for recitals 1 to 5)

Justification

The European network's job is to collect and exchange information on immigration and asylum, and this should be reflected in its acronym (EMAN). This amendment seeks to replace 'European Migration Network' with 'European Migration and Asylum Network' and 'EMN' with 'EMAN' throughout the proposal (with the exception of recitals 1 to 5, which refer to the name used to date).

The EMAN must be able to base its work on information from government departments, universities, research centres, NGOs and international organisations.

Amendment 3

Recital 6 a (new)

(6a) Among other existing instruments and structures, Regulation (EC) No

862/2007 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 11 July 2007 on Community statistics on migration and international protection¹ constitutes an important reference framework for the functioning of the European Migration Network. Attention should also be paid to the valuable work carried out by the CIREFI² and to Council Decision 2005/267/EC of 16 March 2005 establishing a secure web-based Information and Coordination Network for Member States' Migration Management Services³ (ICOnet).

1. OJ L 199, 31.7.2007, p. 23.

2. Centre for Information, Discussion and Exchange on the Crossing of Frontiers and Immigration (CIREFI), as established following Council Conclusions of 30 November 1994 (OJ C 274, 19.09.1996, p. 50).

Revision

This Decision shall be revised within a period of six months following the entry into force of the Treaty of Lisbon.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Parliament is being consulted on a Commission proposal for a Council decision establishing a European Migration Network.

A European Migration Network already exists and bases its work on a set of National Contact Points. It was set up under a pilot project, which was followed by a preparatory action. The Council decision currently before Parliament now seeks to establish an appropriate legal basis for the network's operation.

The rapporteur fully endorses the main lines of the Commission proposal and the broad agreement reached within the Council, particularly as regards consolidating the network as such and not – at least for the meantime – setting up a further European monitoring centre or agency. This will avoid unnecessary red tape. The collection of data, information and analyses can be performed efficiently by a network which handles common, EU-related aspects of the work of competent or interested national and international bodies.

The Council has made an extremely swift response to the Commission proposal, reaching substantive agreement on the proposal and making only a few amendments to certain points. Parliament's opinion is not, however, a mere formality, and the rapporteur therefore calls on the Council to take proper account of it with a view to the final adoption of the proposal for a decision. The rapporteur has tabled amendments that take over Council proposals, with a view to facilitating agreement between the institutions.

This report drawn up on behalf of Parliament seeks in particular to:

- change the network's name from 'European Migration Network (EMN)' to 'European Migration and Asylum Network (EMAN)'. This proposal stems from the simple fact that the network deals with both asylum and migration matters; it is therefore appropriate and logical for this to be reflected in its name and acronym;
- broaden the network's remit to cover the production of studies, analyses and assessments concerning the application and implementation of directives, the drafting of legal analyses and the drawing up of conclusions and recommendations, inter alia at the request of Parliament and the other institutions, so as to ensure that its work is of practical use to those involved in decision-making processes;
- ensure that the EMAN is able to perform its task of collecting and exchanging immigration and asylum data that are comparable at European level, by making it clear that the aim is to lay down common criteria and indicators at European level;
- ensure that the EMN is able to work in close cooperation with other migration and asylum organisations and stakeholders – primarily with government departments, but also with NGOs, universities, research centres, experts, international organisations and non-Community states – so as to draw its data from a wide range of sources and have a multidisciplinary approach;

- ensure that the EMAN makes an effort to communicate and disseminate information on its work, in order to raise the profile of the network and its work. To this end it should, in particular, use the Internet to publish and disseminate data and analyses, in compliance with Regulation 049/2001 on access to documents;
- reject the Council's proposed amendment of Article 4 of the proposal for a decision (on the composition and remit of the EMAN Steering Board), which would leave the EP as a mere observer with no voting rights, while the Commission – with the rapporteur's full support – is proposing that the EP should have a representative with voting rights;
- prevent the EMAN's work from overlapping with that of other European bodies; the EMAN should instead cooperate with those bodies and base its activities on the work that has already been carried out, in a spirit of full and unfettered cooperation.

To wind up, the rapporteur recommends that Parliament adopt the Commission proposal subject to the amendments tabled, so as to enable the network to be established as early as possible in 2009.

OPINION OF THE COMMITTEE ON LEGAL AFFAIRS ON THE PROPOSED LEGAL BASIS

Mr Gérard Deprez
Chairman
Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs
BRUSSELS

Subject: Opinion on the legal basis of the Proposal for a Council Decision establishing a European Migration Network (COM(2007)0466 – C6-0303/2007 – 2007/0167(CNS))

Dear Mr Chairman,

By letter of 6 February 2008 you asked the Committee on Legal Affairs pursuant to Rule 35(2), to consider whether the legal basis of the above Commission proposal was valid and appropriate.

The committee considered the above question at its meeting of 26 February 2008.

The legal basis proposed by the Commission is Article 66 of the EC Treaty.

The Civil Liberties Committee considers that the legal basis ought to be amended to Articles 62 and 63 of the EC Treaty. This change in the legal basis would give Parliament the benefit of the co-decision procedure rather than mere consultation.

Pertinent provisions of the EC Treaty

Article 62

The Council, acting in accordance with the procedure referred to in Article 67, shall, within a period of five years after the entry into force of the Treaty of Amsterdam, adopt:

1. measures with a view to ensuring, in compliance with Article 14, the absence of any controls on persons, be they citizens of the Union or nationals of third countries, when crossing internal borders;

2. measures on the crossing of the external borders of the Member States which shall establish:

(a) standards and procedures to be followed by Member States in carrying out checks on persons at such borders;

(b) rules on visas for intended stays of no more than three months, including:

(i) the list of third countries whose nationals must be in possession of visas when crossing the external borders and those whose nationals are exempt from that requirement;

(ii) the procedures and conditions for issuing visas by Member States;

(iii) a uniform format for visas;

(iv) rules on a uniform visa;

3. measures setting out the conditions under which nationals of third countries shall have the freedom to travel within the territory of the Member States during a period of no more than three months.

Article 63

The Council, acting in accordance with the procedure referred to in Article 67, shall, within a period of five years after the entry into force of the Treaty of Amsterdam, adopt:

1. measures on asylum, in accordance with the Geneva Convention of 28 July 1951 and the Protocol of 31 January 1967 relating to the status of refugees and other relevant treaties, within the following areas:

(a) criteria and mechanisms for determining which Member State is responsible for considering an application for asylum submitted by a national of a third country in one of the Member States,

(b) minimum standards on the reception of asylum seekers in Member States,

(c) minimum standards with respect to the qualification of nationals of third countries as refugees,

(d) minimum standards on procedures in Member States for granting or withdrawing refugee status;

2. measures on refugees and displaced persons within the following areas:

(a) minimum standards for giving temporary protection to displaced persons from third countries who cannot return to their country of origin and for persons who otherwise need international protection,

(b) promoting a balance of effort between Member States in receiving and bearing the consequences of receiving refugees and displaced persons;

3. measures on immigration policy within the following areas:

(a) conditions of entry and residence, and standards on procedures for the issue by Member States of long-term visas and residence permits, including those for the purpose of family reunion,

(b) illegal immigration and illegal residence, including repatriation of illegal residents;

4. measures defining the rights and conditions under which nationals of third countries who are legally resident in a Member State may reside in other Member States.

Measures adopted by the Council pursuant to points 3 and 4 shall not prevent any Member

State from maintaining or introducing in the areas concerned national provisions which are compatible with this Treaty and with international agreements.

Measures to be adopted pursuant to points 2(b), 3(a) and 4 shall not be subject to the five-year period referred to above.

Article 66

The Council, acting in accordance with the procedure referred to in Article 67, shall take measures to ensure cooperation between the relevant departments of the administrations of the Member States in the areas covered by this title, as well as between those departments and the Commission.

Article 67

1. During a transitional period of five years following the entry into force of the Treaty of Amsterdam, the Council shall act unanimously on a proposal from the Commission or on the initiative of a Member State and after consulting the European Parliament.

2. After this period of five years:

- the Council shall act on proposals from the Commission; the Commission shall examine any request made by a Member State that it submit a proposal to the Council,

- the Council, acting unanimously after consulting the European Parliament, shall take a decision with a view to providing for all or parts of the areas covered by this title to be governed by the procedure referred to in Article 251 and adapting the provisions relating to the powers of the Court of Justice.

3. By derogation from paragraphs 1 and 2, measures referred to in Article 62(2)(b) (i) and (iii) shall, from the entry into force of the Treaty of Amsterdam, be adopted by the Council acting by a qualified majority on a proposal from the Commission and after consulting the European Parliament.

4. By derogation from paragraph 2, measures referred to in Article 62(2)(b) (ii) and (iv) shall, after a period of five years following the entry into force of the Treaty of Amsterdam, be adopted by the Council acting in accordance with the procedure referred to in Article 251.

5. By derogation from paragraph 1, the Council shall adopt, in accordance with the procedure referred to in Article 251:

- the measures provided for in Article 63(1) and (2)(a) provided that the Council has previously adopted, in accordance with paragraph 1 of this article, Community legislation defining the common rules and basic principles governing these issues,

- the measures provided for in Article 65 with the exception of aspects relating to family law.

Appraisal

Article 67 EC lays down the procedure governing the adoption of measures provided for in Articles 62-66. The provision is complex with a number of qualifications and exceptions. For present purposes it is sufficient to note that pursuant to Article 67, paragraph 2, second indent, the Council Decision of 2004 extended the co-decision procedure to cover most measures provided for in Title IV of the EC Treaty, except for those relating to legal migration, family law and some asylum issues¹.

It is observed, in limine, that it is settled case-law of the Court of Justice² that the choice of the legal basis for a Community act is to be determined solely by reference to objective criteria that are amenable to judicial review, and in particular the aim and content of the act being proposed.

The content of the proposal under consideration consists of fifteen recitals and fifteen articles. According to Article 1, the Proposal deals with the establishment of an European Migration Network whose objective is "to meet the information needs of Community institutions, Member States' authorities and institutions, and the general public on migration and asylum, by providing up-to-date, objective, reliable and comparable information on migration and asylum, with a view to supporting policy- and decision-making in the European Union in these areas".

In fact, the aim is to formalise and define better, through the adoption of an appropriate legal instrument, a network structure which is already in existence³.

According to the proposal the EMN is to be a permanent structure composed by "National Contact Points designated by the Member States" and the Commission (Art. 3) and guided by a Steering Board made up of representatives of Member States, the European Parliament and Commission, assisted by two scientific experts (Art. 4). Rules are laid down on coordination, meetings, an information exchange system, reports and studies, cooperation with other entities and the budget. Article 2 describes the activities that the EMN is to perform in order to provide up-to-date, objective, reliable and comparable information about migration and asylum issues.

Specifically what the EMN is required to do is to collect and exchange data, undertake analyses, develop methods of analysis, publish periodic reports, establish an internet-based information exchange system, coordinate information and cooperate with other European and international bodies.

"Article 1

1. As from 1 January 2005 the Council shall act in accordance with the procedure laid down in Article 251 of the Treaty when adopting measures referred to in Article 62(1), (2)(a) and (3) of the Treaty.
2. As from 1 January 2005 the Council shall act in accordance with the procedure laid down in Article 251 of the Treaty when adopting measures referred to in Article 63(2)(b) and (3)(b) of the Treaty."

In order to evaluate what the appropriate legal basis might be, it is necessary to analyse briefly the pertinent provisions of EC Treaty.

Article 62 EC deals with measures to ensure the absence of controls on persons, whether they be Union citizens or nationals from third countries, when crossing internal borders; measures on crossing external borders, establishing standards and procedures for checks on persons at such borders; rules on visas for those intending to stay no more than three months, and measures setting out the conditions under which nationals from third countries have the freedom to travel within the territory of the Member States during a period of no more than three months.

Article 63 EC covers measures relating to asylum, refugees and displaced persons, immigration policy and legal residence of nationals of third countries. As regards asylum and refugees, it enables criteria to be laid down for deciding which State should be responsible for considering an asylum application, together with minimum standards for determining whether third country nationals are to be categorised as refugees and minimum standards for granting or withdrawing refugee status. As regards displaced persons, Article 63 enables minimum standards to be adopted for giving temporary protection to displaced persons from third countries and measures to be taken in order to promote a balance of effort between Member States in dealing with the consequences of receiving refugees and displaced persons. Thirdly, it covers conditions of entry and residence and illegal immigration. Lastly, it takes in the rights and the conditions under which nationals of third countries who are legally resident in a Member State may reside in other Member States¹.

Article 66 EC empowers to Council to take measures to ensure cooperation between the relevant departments of the administrations of the Member State in the areas covered by Title IV, and between those departments and the Commission.

Both Articles 62 and 63 EC refer to measures relating to "standards", "criteria", "rules", "procedures" and "conditions" directly affecting policies on visa, asylum and immigration.

The proposal in question does not lay down this kind of provision, but is confined to establishing a structure responsible for research and the management of information dealing with issues connected with asylum and immigration, as a result of cooperation between "entities" designated by Member States that are to act as National Contract Points and the Commission, which is to coordinate the work of the network through the Steering Board.

On the one hand, the absence of measures regulating directly the issues of asylum and immigration and, on the other, the provision of a structure resulting from cooperation between Member States and Commission with the aim of collect and processing information and data on asylum and migration in order to support the activity of European Union in those areas, make it clear that the measures provided in the proposal fall within the "administrative cooperation" covered by Article 66 EC¹.

Given the existence of a specific provision on administrative cooperation, the argument of the Civil Liberties Committee that "a legal act establishing a fund or an organisation (such as a network) should be based on the legal basis of the respective policy" does not stand up.

In the light of the analysis carried out above, it is submitted that the proposal for a decision sets out measures ensuring "cooperation between the relevant departments of the administrations of the Member States in the area covered by this title, as well as between those departments and the Commission".

At its meeting of 26 February 2008 the Committee on Legal Affairs accordingly decided, unanimously², to recommend that the existing legal basis of Article 66 of the EC Treaty should be maintained.

Yours sincerely,

Giuseppe Gargani
